Nestor le castor

These beautiful hummingbirds hover like bees and can fly backwards as well as forwards to feed on nectar in flowers. Write the total of flowers of each colour in the corresponding circle.

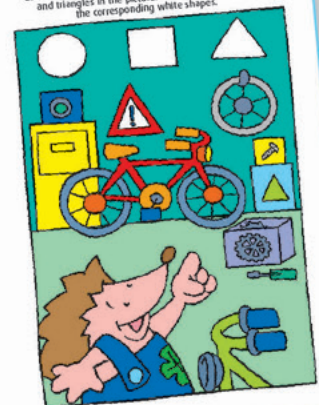

Bernie walks around the countryside and comes across a hill covered with wind turbines. Draw lines to link the matching pairs of wind turbines. Draw lines to link the matching pairs of wind turbines.

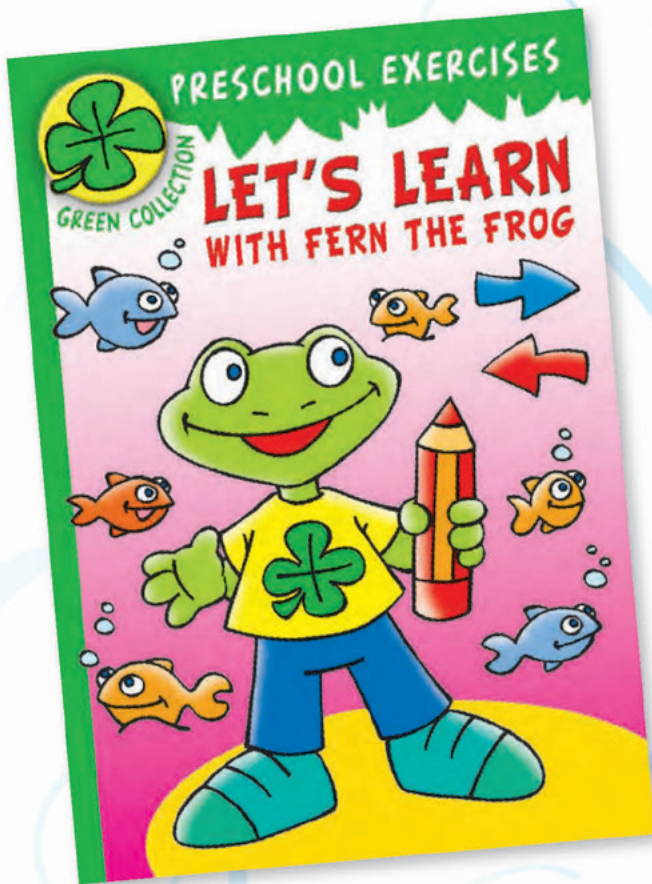

Leaves come in all different shapes and sizes. Which leaf on Hank's back matches the one in his hand? Link them.

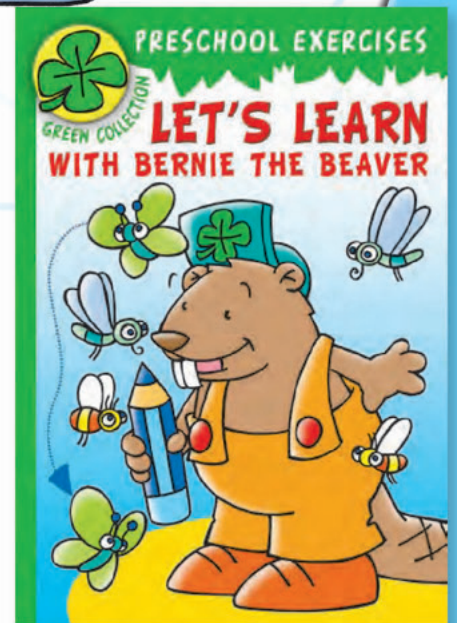

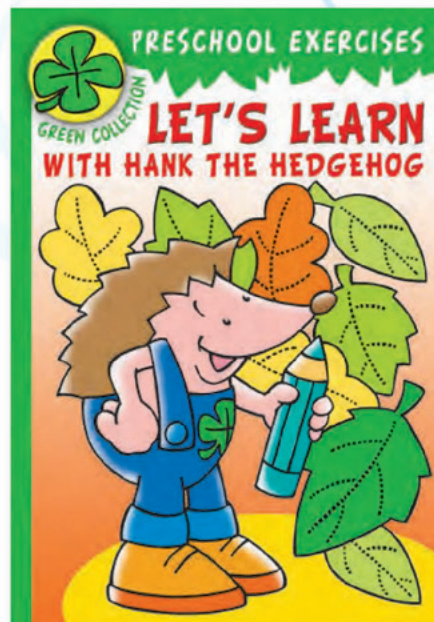

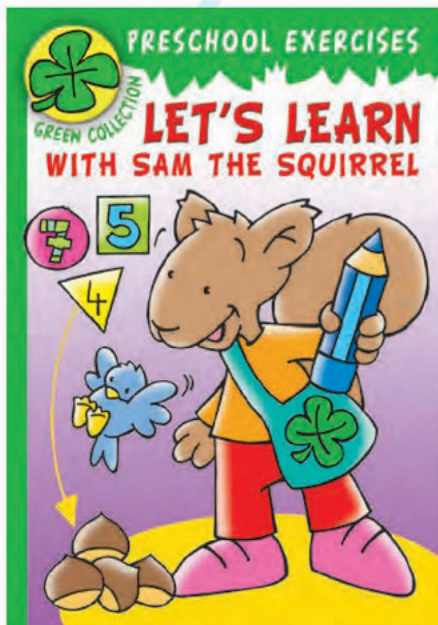

At the garage, old bicycles are repaired to become as good as new. Help Hank count the number of circles, squares and triangles in the picture. Write your answers in the corresponding white shapes.

The simple exercises proposed in the green series will not only teach the kids preschool basics but also help them take the first steps towards respecting the environment. Four titles to prepare your child to develop skills such as writing, observation, using numbers and counting. This book offers our young readers an opportunity to explore the natural world around them and become familiar with environmental concepts as well.
