

S0240

1 new title
210 x 297 mm

24 pages
poster & stickers

Uncover World Mysteries

The Americas

North and South American history is jam-packed with folklore, Native American mythology and extraordinary feats of human craftmanship. Mysterious monuments, quarantined of nature and more drawings that can't be seen from space, to name a few!

Bigfoot
(Canada/USA)

It's not just 2 meters tall, Bigfoot is an order of a huge heavy creature resembling a giant ape. The 50-year-old legend has been reported to be seen in a state that people can't reach and only comes out at night.

Quetzalcoatl
(Mexico)

This feathered serpent was an ancient Mesoamerican deity. He was sometimes also known as a deity with a beard. As the Aztecs thought that the feathered serpent was a human figure, they believed that he would return to earth as a god.

Inca Cápac
(Peru)

Legend has it that the Inca Cápac, with the permission of Viracocha, the Creator, who rose out of Lake Titicaca, to create the Sun, Moon and stars. The Inca Cápac founded the Inca Empire of South America, where he taught people how to plant and harvest crops.

Zombie
(Haiti)

The myth of the walking dead stems from the Caribbean, where followers of the Vodou religion believe that the dead can be raised from the dead to act as slaves.

Madre Monte
(Columbia)

La Guineense legend Madre Monte is a major river in the region of the Cauca and Cauca. It is a river that flows in the jungle and is said to be a river that flows in the jungle and is said to be a river that flows in the jungle.

Bermuda Triangle

Hundreds of ships and planes have disappeared in the Bermuda Triangle. Some say extraterrestrial beings have taken them to another dimension, others say that the sea gods have kidnapped them. Or why they were really destroyed by the water vortex that occurs there, which could reach 100 to 200 meters?

- Bestselling series, now adding a 12th book
- Published in 30+ languages
- Exciting mysteries
- 2 spreads of stickers + poster

OTHER THEMES:

More info

